Dear Ambassador,

As someone whose life has been touched by cancer, I am horrified to know that unscrupulous people are preying on cancer sufferers and their families in Viet Nam. These parasites are offering false hope to vulnerable people by lying about the usefulness of rhino horn in managing or curing cancer.

This is not only causing the needless decimation of this unique and magnificent animal but may also lead to the unnecessary or untimely death of the cancer sufferer should they place their trust in this useless product.

I ask that the Vietnamese government does all it can to stop these immoral peddlers who are making money off the back of people's suffering and driving this cruel poaching trade.

Signed:

Name:

Please tick:

I am a cancer survivor

I am a family member/friend of someone diagnosed with cancer

